Overview
Also Known As: TH
TALLYHO mimics many characteristics of human non-insulin-dependent type 2 diabetes mellitus (NIDDM). Male TALLYHO mice can develop hyperglycemia, hyperinsulinemia, hyperlipidemia, moderate obesity, and enlargement of the islets of Langerhans, however, the phenotype is less than 100% penetrant.

TALLYHO mimics many characteristics of human non-insulin-dependent type 2 diabetes mellitus (NIDDM). Male TALLYHO mice can develop hyperglycemia, hyperinsulinemia, hyperlipidemia, moderate obesity, and enlargement of the islets of Langerhans, however, the phenotype is less than 100% penetrant. Onset of hyperglycemia is delayed compared to ob/ob (B6.V-Lep^{ob}) and db/db (BKS.Cg-m +/+ Lepr^{db}) mice beginning between 10 and 14 weeks of age. Female mice display moderate hyperinsulinemia, hyperlipidemia, and obesity but do not manifest overt diabetes (i.e. hyperglycemia). Chromosomal mapping identified a major diabetes susceptibility locus on Chromosome 19, designated Tanidd1 for TH-associated NIDDM. Breeding and mapping data suggest Tanidd1 is a single recessively inherited gene primarily responsible for the hyperglycemia phenotype in TALLYHO mice. Tanidd1 interacts with other loci including Tanidd2 on Chromosome 13, Tanidd3 on Chromosome 15, Tabw2 (TallyHo-associated body weight) on Chromosome 7, and Tafat (TallyHo-associated fat pad) (Kim et al., 2001).
Genotyping Protocols

Breeding Considerations
This strain is an exceptional breeder.
This strain is maintained by brother x sister matings. Because the phenotype is not fully penetrant, it is important to continually monitor for overt hyperglycemia in male mice. Mice available from The Jackson Laboratory are the progeny of a proven diabetic male. Male breeders in our colony are tested for hyperglycemia at 14 weeks of age. Publications on TallyHo mice should note the current generation of inbreeding. For TallyHo colonies maintained independent of The Jackson Laboratory (TJL), the generation number is denoted by the generation of the original breeder pairs obtained from TJL followed by the number of generations bred independently (e.g. F7NE4F7+3).

Please note, SWR/J (Stock No. 000689) is recommended as the "normal" genetically related control for TALLYHO/JngJ mice; the two strains share 86.8% of their genotype and 67.1% of their haplotype based on TALLYHO/JngJ single nucleotide polymorphism (SNP) alignment with Swiss family strains.

Payment Terms and Conditions

Terms are granted by individual review and stated on the customer invoice(s) and account statement. These transactions are payable in U.S. currency within the granted terms. Payment for services, products, shipping containers, and shipping costs that are rendered are expected within the payment terms indicated on the invoice or stated by contract. Invoices and account balances in arrears of stated terms may result in The Jackson Laboratory pursuing collection activities including but not limited to outside agencies and court filings.

The Jackson Laboratory's Genotype Promise

The Jackson Laboratory has rigorous genetic quality control and mutant gene genotyping programs to ensure the genetic background of JAX® Mice strains as well as the genotypes of strains with identified molecular mutations. JAX® Mice strains are only made available to researchers after meeting our standards. However, the phenotype of each strain may not be fully characterized and/or captured in the strain data sheets. Therefore, we cannot guarantee a strain's phenotype will meet all expectations. To ensure that JAX® Mice will meet the needs of individual research projects or when requesting a strain that is new to your research, we suggest ordering and performing tests on a small number of mice to determine suitability for your particular project.
